End to Bread Waste Urged

HAIFA, Wednesday.—A stoppage to the waste of bread, which the Government now spends nearly $200,000 a year, an improvement in the quality of all types of bread and more hygienic distribution methods are some of the most urgent demands of the Consumers Association, according to its latest bulletin.

A large quantity of the bread which is sold daily goes to waste, the Association asserts. Some of the bread is baked in such an unsatisfactory manner that, owing to its comparatively low price, it is thrown away by the consumer after it is more than a day old. By improving quality and proper storage methods much of the bread now lost can be saved, the Association believes.

The Association is also working to bring about a change in the way bread is sold. It is urging the Government to put its name on the products and on the wrapper, and to require the baker to put his name on the wrapper.
